

TALES OF INTRIGUE.

Mr. Breckinridge Continues His Interesting Testimony.

PLAINTIFF FLATLY CONTRADICTED

The Case Narrows Down to a Question of Veracity Between Miss Pollard and Her Agent Foreman—Her Threats to Take His Life.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Chapter two of the story of Colonel W. C. Breckinridge was told yesterday. It consumed the whole session of the court, and still the narrative remains incomplete. It was a warping experience for the Kentucky congressman to stand all day in a narrow stall detailing step by step the history of a decade of his life, so far as it had any bearing upon his illicit relations with Madeline Pollard, whose movements were entangled with his so often and so intricately. From their second meeting at the Lexington house of assignment kept by Sarah Gess, in 1884, down to the late spring of 1893, the recital wound its way along a path stony with plots, illegitimate children, concealed meetings, clandestine interviews and one secret marriage. Miss Pollard persists in becoming agitated, and once she made an outcry, demanding to know why the defendant could not tell the truth, but Judge Bradley warned her firmly and kindly that she must exercise control or leave the room.

The case is practically narrowing down to a question of veracity between the plaintiff and several of her supporting witnesses and the defendant. Their stories coincide on many points, but it is noticeable how differently the same events appear when viewed from the standpoint of Colonel Breckinridge and Miss Pollard. Only on a few points was he obliged to take issue with the testimony of anybody but the plaintiff.

Mr. Butterworth handed the witness a work basket which had belonged to his second wife and which Miss Pollard said he had given her. Colonel Breckinridge said in regard to it: "The statement made by the plaintiff was that when I left Washington after the session of congress I went with her to the house to the train, that I gave her the basket then, with affectionate words. I did not go to Miss Pollard's house that night. I did not ride with her in the stage to the depot. I did not give her the basket under any circumstances." The witness said that he did not know how the basket got into the possession of Miss Pollard. Colonel Breckinridge then told of the visit to Sarah Gess' house in August, 1884, with Miss Pollard, and said that he had not seen the latter again until October. He denied all knowledge of the correspondence to Rhodes, alleged to have been written, dated from New Orleans and other places in the south, by Miss Pollard under his direction, nor had he ever written a letter purporting to be from her to her mother or any other person.

"From November, 1885, to July, 1887, there were no improper relations between us, although I was supporting her," the witness continued. "The entanglement between us really began when she came to Washington against my will. She would come to me at the Capitol, in my committee room, declare that she was not going to leave, that she was going to have the support I owed her."

His visits to Sarah Gess' Lexington house, he said, were first suggested by Miss Pollard. He had never called to make such arrangements. He offered no inducements to the plaintiff, though he had of course paid the necessary expenses, and had given her some change for traveling expenses. Returning to the plaintiff's apartment at Washington he said:

"I said that there must be no misunderstanding between us, and reminded her that from the first I had said there could be no marriage, but anything short of that which I could do to save those who loved me I would do; that she could not trust me, because knowing the relations I had held with her while I had such a happy family she would always suspect me of having similar relations with other women. I reminded her that she had not come to me a maiden, that I had not reduced her."

Colonel Breckinridge gave his version of the visit to Mrs. Blackburn. Witness said to Mrs. Blackburn that she had been extremely kind, and that so long as the plaintiff had her as a friend she needed nothing else, but that in her distress he had offered her the protection of his name. Mrs. Blackburn said that this had been a great surprise to her, and she could scarcely credit it, and did not know whether she should congratulate him or not. To this he had responded not at all, simply acknowledging it with a bow.

After speaking of visiting Philadelphia as the guest of George W. Childs, the secret marriage to Mrs. Wing in New York was skipped, and Colonel Breckinridge went on to tell of his meeting with Miss Pollard at the Hoffman House in New York May 1. On that occasion she threatened him with a revolver, but he finally subdued her by threatening to send her to the Tomb.

Then Mr. Breckinridge told of his secret marriage to Mrs. Wing and of the falling out with Mrs. Blackburn. Mrs. Blackburn said that he had told her that he was engaged to Miss Pollard and asked her to keep the secret, and that witness and plaintiff had been together in a hotel in New York. He had replied that he could not give her a full explanation then, but would later on in Washington. Mrs. Blackburn had said that unless he could explain satisfactorily their friendship must end. He had said that he supposed he must submit to her decision whatever it was.

DECLINES A SENATORSHIP.

Mr. Crisp Will Resign as Speaker of the National House.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—A petition was circulated among Democratic members of the house yesterday congratulating Speaker Crisp on his appointment as United States senator from Georgia. The petition says:

"The compliment just paid you is indeed well merited, but it is the unanimous opinion of us all that you continue to preside over the deliberations of this house, which you have so ably, so justly, so impartially administered. We appeal to you to decline this further honor at this time and remain in the position you now occupy, and you will ever enjoy the gratitude of a grateful people."

Speaker Crisp went to his private office during a roll call at 4 o'clock, and Representative Cadmus, of New Jersey, took the opportunity to present the petition. It was signed by over 140 members. The speaker said he felt profoundly grateful for the heartfelt expressions of the members, and he would give due consideration to the wishes of his friends.

Late last night Mr. Crisp sent a telegram to Governor Northern declining the honor tendered him, saying that in declining he was sacrificing a cherished ambition to what he regards as a sense of duty.

STILL FILIBUSTERING.

Bland Will Move to Pass His Bill Over the President's Veto.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Another long filibuster consumed the time of the house yesterday, and although the proceedings were not characterized by the turbulence and disorder which marked them on Thursday, they culminated in a very sharp passage at arms between the speaker and Mr. Reed, and left partisan feeling still at high tension when the recess was taken. For four hours Mr. Reed successfully filibustered against the approval of the journal. During the progress of the filibuster the speaker several times declined to entertain appeals from his decisions, refusing to state the grounds on which the decisions were made. He held that it was the chair's privilege, as it was the privilege of a judge, to furnish the reasons for decisions or not, as he saw fit. When the president's veto of the Bland bill was read Mr. Bland gave notice that on Tuesday next he would move to pass the bill, the president's objections notwithstanding. A single vote was had on the O'Neill-Joy contested election case after the long struggle, but, although the Democrats had a quorum present all the afternoon, it mysteriously disappeared at the critical juncture. Haven voters were lacking.

Spanish Prisoners Massacred.

MADRID, March 31.—Advices have been received here from Mindanao, capital of the island of that name in the Malay Archipelago, showing that further trouble has occurred between the Malays and Spanish troops. A strong force of Malays armed with native weapons and led by the sultan of Atia, made an attack upon the Spanish military station at Depanto, on the island of Mindanao, and sacked the place, capturing two officers and twelve other persons. The Malays then sent the two officers and three of the women prisoners could not proceed fast enough to suit their captors, and they were massacred. A strong native force was dispatched in pursuit and an engagement took place, which resulted in the defeat of the band. Many of the marauding forces were captured and swift punishment will be meted to them.

Fatally Shot by a Squatter.

HENNINGTON, W. Va., March 31.—The United States authorities are experiencing more trouble in Wyoming county, where they are attempting to remove squatters from lands owned by eastern syndicates. Deputy United States Marshal A. B. Vest, who is with a surveying party, was fatally shot by a policeman named Stout. Vest was a popular officer, and the tragedy was one that was brought on by a discussion over the question as to whether the squatters should or should not be evicted. Stout was arrested.

When a person takes a cold it is not infrequently accompanied by a cough. Constant coughing if not relieved at once by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the ready cure for all such affections, will weaken the patient, intensify the irritation causing the cough, until headache and fever are developed, often ending in inflammation of the air passage.

DISCIPLINE FOR COXEY'S ARMY.

Improper Acts and Words Prohibited in the Commemoration.

EAST PALMISTON, O., March 31.—After so many evasions the Commemoration had rather a cool reception at East Palmetto. Trustees Duna, of the Harmony society, was in town to see the arrival of the army, and he and Coxe went out together on the afternoon train. Very stringent orders were read out by Marshal Browne, and the men have been placed under severe discipline. Drunkenness, obscenity or fighting will result in instant dismissal. Two men began fighting at the midway halt at Waterford and were instantly dismissed. Owing to the number of new recruits the Commemoration left Columbus a new commune, making three, has been formed. Browne says a band of preachers are marching on day ahead gathering food and clothes, which they represent for the Commemoration.

Superintendent of Police O'Mara, of Pittsburgh, will make it warm for the Coxe recruits in that city. He has issued a general order that all tramps be arrested on sight and sent to the workhouse. "I have been compelled to issue this order," said he, "from the fact that there are so many tramps drifting toward this city. We don't want this class of people here, and we will just lock them up until the Coxe gang gets through the city. I expect this Commemoration, as they call it, to pass through the city quietly. If they don't we will lock them up."

On Tuesday, April 3, the Army of the Commemoration is billed to occupy Bear Laurel Summit, Pa., and it is understood this means on Private Daisell's farm. It is known Mr. Daisell has written that he will welcome the Commemoration to the best that his farm affords.

MORE FIGHTING IN SAMOA.

It Is Precipitated by the Action of the American Chief Justice.

APPELTON, March 31.—The steamship Alameda, from Samoa, brings news of a most serious outbreak in those islands, which would seem to indicate that the United States, Great Britain and Germany will be called upon to take prompt action. According to the reports the outbreak was caused by the action of Henry Ide, the American chief justice, who succeeded Chief Justice Cadmus on Sept. 6, 1893.

Chief Justice Ide is charged with fanning and throwing into all the chiefs of the rival factions in Samoa and with compelling them to work on the roads like convicts of the lowest order. The natives protested strongly, made all kinds of threats, and eventually broke out into armed rebellion. The fighting began by the rebels killing a man in the employ of the government, who was caught near their camp.

King Malletta sent a strong force to attack the rebels, and several sharp encounters between Malletta's warriors and the rebellious chiefs followed. During these engagements thirty men were killed, and about fifty wounded.

Crushed to Death by Sawblades.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—The Union Pacific officials have received advices from the Idaho division to the effect that six sawblades occurred on Thursday between Burke and Black Bear, on Canyon creek, each from one to two thousand feet in length and one to two hundred feet in depth. A section of snow 600 feet in length near Black Bear mine first became detached and started down the steep mountain side. Two families, together with their homes, were caught and carried along with the slide and buried at the bottom of the canyon. Another slide occurred further up the canyon, and Burke's family, consisting of father, mother and three children, were overthrown by the mass of snow and crushed to death. Many others unaccounted for have undoubtedly been killed.

Bloodshed and Riot Fears.

CORNELIUSVILLE, Pa., March 31.—There is great excitement throughout the Corneliussville region over the proposed strike next Monday for a 12½ percent advance over the present scale of wages. The operators are determined to resist the demand, and are moving down their works pending the settlement of the strike. There are thirty-six works in the region, employing 15,000 men. Bloodshed and riot seem inevitable and the authorities are alarmed.

Clarke says that his former partners may have ground for civil action, but he denies the criminal charges. Clarke is out on bail. His attorney will decide whether he will go back to New York or not.

HONORS TO KOSSUTH.

Taken Back to Rest in the Soil of His Native Land.

SINCERE SORROW AT BUDA PESTH.

Never Before, Not Even on the Death of a Member of the Royal Family, Has There Been such a Genuine Popular Display of Regret.

BUDA PESTH, March 31.—Never in the history of Hungary has there been such a popular manifestation of sincere sorrow as that which marked the arrival here of the body of the Magyar idol, Louis Kossuth. Mourning decorations are everywhere displayed, and even the houses of those who were politically opposed to the beliefs of the Hungarian exiles were not lacking in symbols of regret at his death. The violent antipathy of the students shown to those who declined a few days ago to place mourning emblems on their houses may have had much to do with the thoroughly general display of grief. However the case may be, the fact remains that never before, nor even at the death of the members of the royal family, has there been such a genuine popular display of regret.

An immense crowd gathered in the vicinity of the railway station long before the train bearing the remains was expected to arrive. As soon as the train had come to a standstill and the relatives and others who had traveled with the remains from Turin had alighted the coffin was removed from the funeral carriage and borne into the waiting room. Here it was placed upon a bier. When it had been placed in position in the waiting room a company of Hovved pensioners who were in waiting were admitted to the room.

These old men, who were survivors of Kossuth's forces, were attired in brown tunics and blue trousers. As they marched slowly past the bier tears could be seen in the eyes of nearly every one of them. When they had paid their token of respect to the memory of their old commander the vice burgomaster delivered a short oration eulogistic of the services that had been rendered Hungary by the dead general.

The procession was then formed to escort the remains to the national museum. The vast concourse of people along the route from the station to the museum stood with uncovered heads as the procession passed slowly along. Not a voice could be heard, and the silence was broken only by the hoof beats of the horses and the rumbling of the hearse.

Almost as steady as when years ago they formed in line of battle to face those they believed to be the enemies of Hungary the honored veterans passed through the crowds, who stood twelve deep along the sidewalks. Their sturdy bearing, despite their gray hairs and furrowed faces, drew forth the admiration of the crowd, and once an attempt was made to cheer them. No sooner had the attempt been made, however, than it was repressed by those standing in the vicinity of the hearse, who thought that the cheer would show disrespect to the illustrious dead.

Hundreds upon hundreds of students, each of whom wore a mourning badge upon his arm kept the route clear. No soldiers took part in the procession, and aside from the detachment of mounted police at the head of the line few police were present.

An affecting scene took place at the Walzen-Ring, where the surviving members of the famous women's club which took an active part in the affairs of 1848 were marshalled. Many of the women wept as the hearse passed by. The bells on the churches throughout the city were tolled during the transference of the body from the station to the museum. In every way the ceremony was of the most solemn character. The coffin was placed on a catafalque in the museum and was covered with wreaths.

The will of Kossuth, written several years ago, has been found. The will bears evidence that a feeling of bitterness was still paramount in its maker. Kossuth expresses no wish regarding his funeral, but wishes the cause of Hungary and Emperor Francis Joseph. Kossuth's sons have decided not to publish the will during the present generation.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Slowly, but Quite Perceptibly, the Forces at Work Increase.

NEW YORK, March 31.—R. G. Dun's review says: Slowly, but yet quite perceptibly the forces at work increase. The approach of spring compels thousands of dealers to replenish stocks, and the aggregate of orders, if smaller than usual at this time of the year, is distinctly larger than in January or February. Except in speculative markets prices do not recover, and in a few instances have gone lower, but the absence of sensational record breaking inspires hope that the bottom may have been reached. Business though small is exceptionally cautious and safe, and its slow gain is more encouraging than a frothy and flighty expansion.

Industries have gained, though not so much as in other weeks this month, but the works in operation enjoy some increase in the demand. Where so many are working part time or with reduced force the less favored normally drop out, while a multitude of small orders gives others better occupation.

Failures for the week number 338 in the United States, against 106 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 23 last year. The liabilities for three weeks of March thus far reported have been $10,611,201, of which $4,086,118 were of manufacturing and $6,525,083 of trading concerns. The returns so far indicate a smaller aggregate for March than for February.

Price Fight in a Church.

READING, Pa., March 31.—Sheriff Fahrmeier and Police Sergeant Quackenbush, of this city, stopped a price fight in a Methodist church at Wernersville yesterday. The ring was pitched in the center of the church, and the benches and pews were occupied by a motley crowd, a good supply of liquid refreshment being on hand. The principals were Mike Butler, of Wilmington, known as "Boston Mike," and Henry Kramer, of this city, known as "Fatty" Kramer. In the first round Kramer scored a complete knockdown. They had clinched in the second round, and while they were wrestling on the floor the fight was stopped.

Murder in a Hospital.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—An altercation which resulted in a homicide occurred between two convalescent patients at the Philadelphia hospital. James F. Dawson, 62 years old, and James T. Burke, 27 years old, were washing windows when a dispute arose and Dawson started down stairs, followed by Burke. It is alleged that Burke kicked Dawson several times, and when they reached the bottom of the stairs Dawson died. He was unconscious. Dawson died a few hours later and Burke was arrested.

Three Murderers Executed.

PAIS, Tex., March 31.—A triple hanging took place here. The trio launched into eternity were Jim Uptine, Eduardo Gonzales and Manning Davis. They mounted the scaffold at 11:20 a. m., being heavily manacled and bound with leather straps. Gonzales and Uptine declared their innocence, but Davis was silent and refused to speak. The execution was perfect, and the men were pronounced dead fifteen minutes after the drop fell.

Laidlaw Wins His Suit.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The suit of W. I. Laidlaw against Russell Sage for damages for injuries sustained through Mr. Sage's use of him as a life preserver against Norcross, the bomb thrower, was decided by a verdict for the plaintiff. The jury returned a verdict giving the plaintiff $25,000 damages. A new trial was moved for by the defendant's counsel, but it was denied by the court, who, however, granted a stay of forty days.

Expelled from the Ministry.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., March 31.—Pastor trials were the feature of yesterday's session of the Baltimore Methodist south conference, and Rev. C. M. Bragg, formerly pastor of Calvary church, Baltimore, was formally expelled on the charge of having eloped with a young lady member of his congregation. Miss Janthe Phelps, who has since returned to her home. Mr. Bragg is supposed to be in the West Indies.

The Dynamite Ship Blown Up.

SANTANDER, March 31.—The sunken wreck of the steamer Cabo Machichaco was blown up yesterday. Four explosions were necessary to destroy the remains of the sunken vessel. The final one was made at 1:15 p. m., and divers later reported that there was scarcely a vestige of the vessel left. There was no accident of any kind.

It May Be As Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pain in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all kidney and liver troubles and after gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Prices only 50c. for large bottle at McKesson & Rogers Drug store.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly commended, is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. The druggists all sell it.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S WAR.

It Grows Out of the Enforcement of Liquor Laws.

FOUR MEN KILLED IN A BATTLE

The Conflict Was Precipitated by the Act of Governor Tillman's Spies Searching Private Houses for Contraband Liquor—Further Fighting Anticipated.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 31.—There was a serious riot at Darlington yesterday, growing out of an attempted enforcement of the dispensary law. Two citizens of Darlington and two of Governor Tillman's spies were killed and a number of spies and citizens wounded. The country in the vicinity has been thoroughly aroused and a large number of people have turned out to hunt down the spies.

The trouble grew out of an attempt to search private houses for liquor. The citizens protested against this, and the spies yielded in the face of the excitement and agreed not to search private premises. They also promised to leave Darlington, although the original force, seventeen in number, had been reinforced to thirty-seven. They had gone to the depot when they were set upon by some town boys. Out of this grew an alarming riot which is rapidly spreading. The arms of one militia company have been taken by the citizens, and the neighboring militia is reported to be not in sympathy with the Governor.

The people of Charlotte, Sumter and Darlington agreed to support each other in resisting the search of private houses. Last night, in accordance with the agreement, armed parties of men from those counties assembled in each of the above towns, and have picketed all the railroad stations from which the spies can escape by rail.

Armed men are scouring the woods for the constables, who are armed with Winchester and will fight for their lives. The Darlington guards are under arms, endeavoring to preserve the peace, but the trouble has outgrown their control. Sheriff Scarborough is powerless, and under threats of being killed by the citizens if he interferes, has submitted. One of the wounded constables is in Darlington jail, protected by the local military company. There is great excitement all over the state, and the inability to progress liquor at this juncture is a Godsend to the public peace.

Governor Tillman will uphold the law, no matter at what cost, and will call on the country companies to enforce obedience should the city military continue to refuse to act.

Constable Brennan, one of the three who left Darlington by the Charleston, Sumter and Northern railroad, is now here. He reports to the governor that his detachment was fired on by the mob as the train was pulling out, and that at the time the other detachment, about to leave on the Cheraw and Darlington railroad and in sight of them, were similarly set on by the citizens.

Fifteen constables went to the depot of the Cheraw and Darlington road to report. Not many citizens were at the depot. Two of them, Paul Rogers and William Lloyd, had an altercation. Constable McLendon had some words with Mr. Redmond about the Floyd-Rogers fight. Some say Redmond cursed McLendon and McLendon fired at Redmond. Others say McLendon fired at Rogers and that the bullet passed through Redmond's throat instead, killing him instantly.

Fighting then became general and citizens hurried to the scene of the encounter. It was found that the constables had scattered on the ground—Redmond, Frank Norment and Constable Pepper, but Miss McLendon McLendon is living, but will die. Norment and Pepper are dead. Chief of Police Dargatz was shot in the side and several citizens were wounded. Mr. Norment had taken no part in the riotous proceedings, but had gone to the depot on business of his own.

The three Columbia companies of state troops have disbanded under the great pressure brought to bear on them rather than obey the governor's orders to go to Darlington. The excitement at Columbia in consequence of this action is at fever heat.

MAN AGAINST BOA

A remarkable feat fought in Central America to battle a Wagon.
A Spanish engineer who served on the engineering corps employed in the construction of the Nicaragua canal told the story of a duel with a boa constrictor by a new engineer. One of the party stated one evening that he could kill a boa constrictor. The rest of the crowd tried to convince him he was wrong, but he would not be deterred. Finally a bet was made that he could not, but within a few days the deadly reptile was in the actual condition. The young engineer promptly accepted the terms of the wager.

The next day a group of natives were sent into the forest to find a boa. They finally came upon just the article they were looking for. It was a well grown specimen of the boa species fully 15 feet long. It had eaten heartily a few days before it was discovered, and it was therefore torpid. It was captured without difficulty and taken back to camp. It was deposited in a room, where it was securely bound and then left until its sleep should be over. The young engineer who was to meet the monstrous monster of the forest in a duel to the death repeated of his vast length many times, but he never let any one know and was "dead game," as the saying goes, from that time on. Some other men in the party for three weeks, and it was nearly a fortnight before the planed snake showed signs of returning activity. The engineers then appointed a night for the combat, and the young man who was to face the serpent waited active training. He had been anticipated that his only weapon was to be a knife, and the young man relied on his clear head, and was not at all surprised to carry him through the encounter in safety.

When work was over on the appointed day, those who were in the forest entered the room and proceeded to cut the ropes with which the serpent was bound. It had been coiled up and several heads placed about it. There were all covered but one, and the snake's opponent entered while his companions beat a hasty retreat to safe places of refuge from which to watch the strange battle and to give cheer in a last extremity. The young engineer was lightly clad and carried in his right hand a long knife, highly polished and sharpened. The monster, half hidden as it was, was in a most angry humor, and his head was raised and his mouth wide open, showing his fangs and his tongue. The young man stepped forward and with a lightning stroke of his knife cut the remaining head that bound it. He jumped back the instant the snake had fallen with the coils of a tiger cat, but his confidence was justified compared with that of the serpent. Calmer than thought the boy descended upon his enemy. Before the man could move the snake had fallen upon his back, and would lie way up to his entire length and was lying at his death.

The iron around which the snake had coiled itself was the young man's knife. He cut the head and what was free. He did not wait to transfer the knife to his other hand, but commenced all his power and cut at the end of the serpent's head his plumed head. It was a splendid stroke, a handstand cut, and it was clear through the body. The upper portion of the snake's coils dropped to the floor, and the serpent's head was left. The entire creature lived but a few seconds, and so quickly did it pass that the spectators scarcely realized what had happened. The young man was pretty thoroughly exhausted. His shoulder was quite badly lacerated by the teeth of the snake. For a few minutes the episode was that the young man's arm was lame for weeks, and all the length was a great task and time when the snake had attacked it.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

BOA MADE A MISTAKE

He was a large, sharp looking young man, and he said to the lady of the house as he stood in the hall:
"Madam, I have called for the suit of clothes which needs pressing and doing up."

"What suit?" she asked.
"Your husband's Sunday suit, ma'am. He called as he went down this morning."

"And he said I was to let you have them?"
"Yes'm."

"Did he appear in good health and spirits?"
"Yes, certainly."

"Look and act natural?"
"Of course. Why do you ask?"

"Because he has been dead 10 years, and I have some curiosity on the subject."

"I—I have made a mistake perhaps!" stammered the young man.
"Perhaps you have. The man you saw go out here an hour ago is my brother Good morning."—London Tit-Bits.

A GOOD WIFE FOR HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

A pious lady, bearing of a poor family on Laurel hill, pocketed a basket and took a supply of money to relieve their wants. She arrived near the location of the house and inquired of several where the poor family lived. Finally she met a man, who said, "I don't know who you are looking for, but my mother-in-law is powerful poor." The pious lady decided to seek no further, and following the address of the mother-in-law she called, found her destitute and almost dead with want.—Morris (Conn.) Bulletin.

ALABAMA LINCOLN

Alabam Lincoln was 6 feet 4 inches in height. Talking with some friends one day, the subject under discussion was how long a man's life should be. Mr. Lincoln said he had given much thought to the matter and had come to the conclusion that they should be long enough to reach from the body to the ground.—Waltham.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Best Spring Remedy in the World—It Makes People Well.

There is one real spring remedy! There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's Celery Compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward M. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, has presented what is now known the world over as Paine's Celery Compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, rheumatism, neuralgia, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

The medical journals of this country and Europe have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's Celery Compound has made people well, than to any other one subject.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE.

AN 'ARGUS' MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Sent to Jail for Cigarette Smoking—A cruel wrong in the name of law—Aldermen's Commission for Tuberculosis—Last Night's Aurora.

I do not know of a more monstrous wrong ever having been done under the forms of law than was committed, a few days ago, when Isaac's Recorder sent a thirteen-year-old boy to the county jail, because he had been guilty of the monstrous crime of smoking cigarettes. The sentence was only for two days, but for that time the boy was forced to live among thieves, vagrants and other malefactors and, worst of all, when restored to liberty, came out labeled "jailbird," a term of reproach, which we may be sure other boys will not fail to fling at him on every possible occasion.

If it is a crime for a boy to smoke cigarettes it is a purely artificial crime, a statutory creation and no moral quality is involved. There was, however, a moral wrong involved in the infliction of such a punishment on a lad of tender years. No matter how vicious and depraved he may have been in his tendencies and acts, the judge who sent him to jail, greased the down hill road for him and gave him a start to a life of vice and crime. From now on the boy is to be heavily handicapped to hold his own in the struggle for an honest and honorable existence.

As bearing upon the predisposition of Jersey, Guernsey and Alderney to tuberculosis, which was discussed in this column, a week or so ago, it may be of interest to note that fifteen cows in the Alderney herd on the Charles Pratt estate, at Glen Cove, L. I., were, yesterday, killed by order of a State Inspector, who found that they were diseased. The cows killed were the most valuable on Long Island.

We have had several beautiful auras within the past few years, but none of them have at all approached in beauty and brilliancy to the one which lighted up the heavens, last night, when all the sky was litery with flickering, wavering, shimmering incandescent lights. The colors were constantly changing from delicate green to orange and gold and pink, deepening at times to a deep red glow. There is always something weird and uncanny about an aurora and because of its ever changing beauty and unusual brilliancy, there was a good deal of wildness and unaccountable about last night's display, as it was easy enough to understand how a people, ignorant of the fact that auras are merely a manifestation of electrical activity in the upper rarefied regions of the atmosphere might look upon them as portents of evil.

ONTARIO AND WESTERN EARNINGS.

The figures for February—Fine showing for the Past Eight Months.

The Ontario and Western reports for February gross earnings, $288,888, a decrease of $17,834, as compared with the corresponding month, last year; operating expenses $178,078, a decrease of $41,748 and net earnings of $110,810, an increase of $28,814.

The reports of the company for the eight months ending Feb. 28th, are noteworthy, for it is almost the only road in the country that, for the period named, shows an increase in both gross and net earnings, for, while many roads have kept their net income at the old figures, they have done so by meeting decreased earnings with sweeping reductions in expenses. The Ontario and Western's figures for the past eight months are:

Gross earnings $1,111,415
Operating expenses 712,541
Net earnings $398,874

THE ARMORY CONTRACT.

The State Court before Judge Brown at Appellate Term.

At Judge Brown's Special Term, in Newburgh, yesterday, the case of the People of the State of New York vs. Samuel S. Davis, impeached with J. O. Deegan and others, was opened by William Vanamee for the defense and evidence put in by the Attorney General. The case was then adjourned until Friday next, at 10 o'clock.

This suit grows out of the construction of the State Armory, in this city, for which Lindsay Brothers were the contractors, their claims against the State for balance having been assigned to Mr. Parvill. Mr. Parvill, of Albany, appeared for attorney General Hancock, and the defense was represented by William Vanamee, George H. Dooker and Alvin J. Van, of Middletown.

Panoramic California.

A fair sized audience assembled at the Casino, last evening, to see and hear Mr. A. H. TenBroeck's illustrated lecture on California.

The views were well selected and well calculated to give those who saw them clear ideas of the scenery, resources and progress of California. The lecture descriptive of the views was very interesting and instructive. Taken as a whole the entertainment was an excellent one and we have no hesitation in heartily commending it to the people of other places which Mr. TenBroeck may visit.

A VERY LONG ENGAGEMENT.

Married After Waiting Fifteen Long and Weary Years.

From the Montgomery Standard.

The marriage of Miss Flora A. Davenport to Mr. David L. Dunn, of Walden, took place, last Monday, at the home of the bride in Massachusetts. The wedding is notable on account of their long courtship.

The bride is a relative of Rev. J. N. Lewis, of Fishkill Landing. Fifteen years ago, when he was pastor of St. M. E. Church in Walden, Miss Davenport paid a long visit at his home. She made the acquaintance of Mr. Dunn. They became friends, then lovers, and afterwards it was announced that they were engaged.

There has been a long delay about it, but now their friends will be glad to learn that the wedding has taken place. Mr. Dunn is a farmer and lives near Walden, and his bride is an educated and refined woman.

Who Wrote to Lawyer Henry F. King Philadelphia?

The answer is receipt of a communication from the proprietor of the Girard House, Philadelphia, stating that a letter addressed to Lawyer Henry F. King, Girard House, postmarked Middletown, N. Y., had been received at the hotel.

It further states that Mr. King died about eight months ago, and the proprietors of the hotel have been unable to locate the relatives of the deceased. They seem to think that the letter is an important one and that the writer is a resident of this city.

The Highland Avenue White Club

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Knap entered the Highland Avenue White Club at their residence on Highland avenue, last evening. The prize winners were Mrs. L. G. Wilson and Mr. John E. Adams. A most pleasant evening was spent.
